When my child, Lily, was first admitted we had no idea how long we were going to be here. When you first showed me around the house, I cried. So many worries that I had were instantly solved and that burden was relieved. I knew before this that the Ronald McDonald house existed but I did not really know what you did. I had no idea what a huge blessing you would be to me and my family. The outpouring of generosity from strangers is incredible. From the meals to the free tickets to games and yoga classes. My four year old no longer says, "that's where Lily almost died," as we drive up to the hospital. He says, "that's where I watched football with Daddy." Such an incredible impact. I can not thank the staff and the volunteers and groups of generous people who give their time and energy to this house enough. The other parents have also been a support I never thought of. This is, truly, the house that love built. I will try in the years to come to pay back, some of what was so generously given to me & my family. That safe haven, shelter in the storm, place to be quiet and pray or eat junk food & watch TV. Thank you again & again for this wonderful ministry & for blessing so many families like mine.

With love,

Amber Gorham
